

JETTON

Unique ID: PUBLIC-62987E

Object type certainty: Certain

Workflow status: Awaiting validation

A copper-alloy Nuremberg jetton of 'rose-orb' type struck for Hans Schultes III, dating c. 1608-1612.

Obverse description: Three crowns alternating with three lis around central rosette

Obverse Inscription: HANS SCHVLTES NOR

Reverse description: Imperial orb within trilobe

Reverse Inscription: GLICK KVMPT VON GO

The jetton is well preserved, but has been bent over its obverse face during deposition. It has an even green patina. See Mitchiner nos. 1390/1402. The jetton is bent in half due to post-depositional damage and is pierced on one edge.
